THE SHANGHAI WALKING MATCH.

THE FINISH.

The N. C. D. News of 30th ult. says:-A very large crowd-probably a record one for this event-assembled at the Race Course to witness the finish. The rails were lined two or three deep on both sides of the last furlong, the Grand Stand and the Public Stand were filled with spectators, and so great was the enthusiasm that people flocked to the roof of the Grand Stand, or stood on the step of the Judge's box, or climbed to other vantage points. in the enclosure. The progress of the race could be traced by the boards near the judge's box, where the order at different points on the route had been chalked up. Now and again persons arriving from outside brought later tidings and the spectators were on the tiptoe of expectancy when loud cheers from the direction of Mohawk Road announced the approach of the leader. It was just 10.50 by the Grand Stand clock when Featherstonhaugh and Webb stepped on to the grass of the Race Course. Walking side by side in a loisurely manner, they passed between the ranks of cheering spectators and finished a " dead heat." They had been together from the start led for more than half way and only lost their colleague T. S. D. Wade after passing Bubbling Well for the second time. A little over three minutes later another cheer and a loud megaphone message from one of the traffic committee heralded the approach of W. A. Brun, the leader of the French team. He walked in fine style, with plenty of energy to spare, and was loudly applauded. It was not until the second round that he had come forward and the second time past Bubbling Well he was sixth. The first Irishman, P. J. Dunne, walked in about half-a-minute later, and he was followed in 21 seconds by another Frenchman; J. Gilis. The French and English teams had now two men in each and it seemed probable that the competition rested between them, when change came over the entire scene by the arrival, one after the other, in just over three minutes, of all four Germans. Mr. Zimmer. the last of the German team received a tremendous ovation from the spectators, and especially from his own countrymen. All the members of this team looked fit and well as they came in. The race was by no means decided yet, for the English team could still win if their two remaining men came in before the fifteenth place. There was great excitement therefore when Messrs, C. Col laco (Portuguese), Con. Hamilton (Irish) and C. Burnie (Scotch) were followed on to the grass by T. S. D. Wade, who was fatigued, but walked pluckily, and az seconds later by Cornish, the last of the English team. It was soon seen that the latter could not overtake Alexandre, the third Frenchman, who beat him by ten seconds exactly, thus placing the last Englishman fifteenth. Donne, the last member of the French team, came in seventeenth, twenty seconds after A. R. Moores, the first of the individual competitors. The Scotch feam completed the course with MacKenna, who came in twenty-third; Davies (26th) brought up the rear of the Irish, and Dinez (29th), who cover ed the course in 3 hrs. 21 m. 31; secs. was the last of the Portuguese. It was not until 11.33 that the first Chinese competitor, O. F. Wang, was led into the final stretch by. Mr. W. L Gerrard. He received as loud applause as the first competitors home. When the time limit had expired, the prizes

-with the exception of those for the oldest and youngest compatitors-were presented by Mrs. C. W. Bruce. Many spectators were in doubt as to the winning team, inasmuch as the English and German-teams tied on points if the first two men, who had dead-heated for first place, were both counted as winners, as is done in horse-racing. The Committee, however, credited Messrs. Featherstonburgh and Webb with 12 points each, thus giving the victory to the Germans by the narrow margin of one point. The competitors were loudly applauded as they came up to receive their prizes and before the spectators dispersed three hearty cheers were given for Mrs. Bruce

The competition resulted as follows:-1 German Team 5+ 7+ 8+ 9=30 2 English . .. 11+11+13+15=31 ,, 3+5+14+16=383 French 4 Irish ?-H 21+11+ 4+17=53

JAPAN'S POLICY TOWARDS CHINA.

INTERVIEW WITH PRINCE ITO.

Chablegrams from London to leading Japanese newspapels have commented upon an elaborate-interview-with-Prince-Ito-whichappeared, a few days ago, in the New York and Paris editions of the New York Herald. In this interview Prince Ito discussed, at length and with characteristic frankness, the policy of Japan towards China and also the New York Herald's proposal for a rapprochement between the United States and China. The text of the interview, as cabled by the staff correspondent of the New York Herald

now in Tokyo, was as follows :-THE SUGGESTED ALLIANCE BETWEEN AMERICA AND CHINA.

Asked for his views concerning the alliance or rapprochement proposal, Prince Ito said "When the Herald's proposal of an 'alliance between the United States and China was first brought to my notice, I smiled. The idea of an alliance in the sense in which the term is usually employed—that of an offensive and differsive pact between two Governmentsseemed to me an impossibility, and of course is. le caunote imagine a condition that would lead the Government of the United States to depart from its traditional policy and enter into" a political alliance with any other nation, least of all with China.

given wide publicity by the Japanese Press. and it has been made clear that it involves no political entanglement but only more active friendship on the part of America and the American people in China's behalf - a further manifestation of the long-existing friendliness of America towards Chipa as towards other weaker nations, in the interest of peace and fair dealing and China's development-it is manifest that there is not only nothing in the suggestion to which Japan could object, but rather that such an arrangement would contribute to the end of Japan's desires.

I PAN'S ATTITUDE

"Japan's attitude towards China is altogether friendly. Our highest interest is permanent peace in the Far East. To that end we hope to see a good Government in China, a Government able to prevent internal disturba :e and to intelligently promote the development of that country. There is absolutely no warrant for the idea, which seems to have been entertained in some parts of the world, that Japan desires say of China's territory. Nor dies Japan entertain any other sinister designs against China. Our diplomatic differences with China have been unwarrantedly magnified just as many other of our policies have been misrepresented. The suggestion that the military statesmen of Japan are nursing some policy of territorial expansion at the expense of China is merely a figment of somebody's vivid imagination. It requires, nothing more than intelligent insight into the various problems ficing us in Korea, Formosa, Saghalien, and the Lizotung to understand that Japan is not entertaining dreams of further territorial expansion, either in the direction of china or in any other direction. Since the war with Russia. beaseless of all."

IAPAN'S INTEREST IN CHINA'S DEVELOPMENT. To my suggestion that a good many Japanese seem to think it to their country's best interest that China remain weak and undeveloped, Prince Ito said; "No thinking man can estertain such an idea. Our friendship for China is not merely altruistic; it has a practical, an intensely practical, basis. First of all, the preservation of peace in the Far East is to our highest interest; To no other nation does peace mean more than to fapip. A disturbance of the peace of China. from whatever cause, would place upon Japan responsibilities which every Japanese mindful of the best interests of his country would oscape. At the time of the Boxer outbreak we were told by Europe the interests of humanity demanded that we dispatch at once !wo divisions of our troops to the scene of troubler-We did our part, but it is no small thing to send an army of that size into a foreign land. When England sent forty, thousand soldiers to Egypt at the time of the Arabi Pasha affair and the bombardment of Alexandria, it took something like three hundred ships to carry them. A disturbance in China of similar dimensions as the Boxer affair would mean to Japan the sacrifice of many lives and much treasure, and who would recompense her? The Chinese people may be rich, but the Government of China is poor. If you consider the matter from this practical viewpoint along, you mu t see that not only would not Japan provoke trouble with China, but it is to her best interest that no such trouble be provoked from any sou.co. . Good government in China is the best possible insurance against such trouble in the future, therefore Japan is honoitly desirous of seeing such government and of aiding in its promotion to such an extent as an outside Power, may be able. This must be done, how-internal politics of the Chinese Empire. the least important phase. Our interest in China and her development is exactly America's interest, that of securing an open market for our commerce throughout the great empire. That open market, not in one section alone but throughout the empire, is of vital importance to our commercial success, China and America are our two best customers. To a very great extent the whole structure of Japan's commercial life depends upon peace in China. that the men responsible for the direction of to come Japan's affairs would willingly destroy out | "As for emigrants of other classes, especially Fire I commerce with Obins ? I am sure there is not. I the rouse men who would seek fortunes should and I am equally certain the world under it is most natural that these should look to stands this.

The importance to Japan of China's development must be equally apparent. There is certainly every reason to believe that as the purchasing power of the Chinese people is increased by the development of her vest resources, Japan will get her full share of the increased business. Japan will in the future purchase an increased amount of rawspaterials from China; and China in turn will purchase an increased amount of manufactured goods from Japan. If China develops manufactures in certain lines, there will still be many other. lines which she must purchase abroad, and our nearness to the China market must necessarily give us a certain advantage over our competi tors. The commercial development of nations is mutual; no nation can be wholly independent of other nations in a commercial sense. If an occasional Japanese thinks he sees a commercial menace in China's development, it is because he has no knowledge of the commercial conditions of the world,

"We know that America's interest in Chica is exactly that of Japan. America stands for fairness and justice, the open door and equal opportunity; and so does Japan. It is to secure these ends, and the peace of the Far Mast upon which all must depend, that Japan has made ber alliance with Great Britain and her cottentes with other Powers. We know that America and the American people have always been our friends, and that the Government of the United "But as the details of the proposal have been | S'ates would enter into no relations with China | differences in the future."-Japan Chronicle. that could be detrimental to Japan's legitimate interests and aspirations. 'Knowing this, Japan will heartily welcome increased American interest in China."

> Prince Ito further expressed the conviction that the outstanding questions between Japan and China would soon be disposed of; that none of them will give any trouble. Both Governments, he said, are desirous of early settlement; the differences are mainly those natural to the working out of details in accordance with the Treaty negotiated at Peking by Count Komura. There might be delay in the settlement of the Chientan boundary question, as in all boundary questions, but he felt certain this would give rise to no trouble Jap in's interest was solely that of safeguarding the interests of Korea and of the Korean residents in the disputed territory. "

THE "YELLOW PERIL". Returning to the subject of China, Prince Ito again emphasized Japan's friendliness and, especially, that while Japan was ever ready to act with the other Powers in aiding, in China's development, it will be without taking a hand in China's internal politics. "If we were to do that, what would the rest of the world say was his comment,

I suggested "Yellow Paril,"

Prince Ito laughed heartily. "The population of the world," said he, " is in round numbers-something-like-fifteen-bundred-million people. There are no complete statistics, but the total is approximately that. Of this number, the yellow and brown and black peoples comprise a majority. Were there among these a Napoleon or an Alexander, or a leader possessing the power of both these great military leaders combined, there would still be no Japan has been made the victim of a vast deal of | possibility of the destruction of one race by misrepresentation, of which this misstatement another, and in all human probability no of our attitude towards China is but one phase, attempt in that direction. THE ORIENTAL COLONISATION COMPANY AND EMIGRATION.

My question concerning the expected working of the Oriental Colonisation Company elicited a highly interesting expression of Prince Ito's views upon Japanese emigration.

" [apan's emigration problem," said he, " by no means as great as it has been represented. While it is true that statistics show as annual increase in Japan's population of approximately five hundred thousand, there is now no surplus of population such as need give th Government any anxiety, nor will there be the near future. It is not true that the Government of Japan is sending its people abroad, or that it is faced with any necessity of finding an outlet for an excess of people. Rather is the contrary true. Japan has a great amount of undeveloped agricultural land in the Hokkaido which the Government is anxious to furnish to ever, without our involving ourselves in the agricultural labourers at a merely nominal cost; then there are Korea and the Japanese portion "This, however, is but one phase of the of Saghalien to furnish opportunity for that practical side of the question, and perhaps the class of labour. It is true of Japan, as of other countries, however, that agricultural labour prefers to stick to the soil with which it is familiar; and so long as the people of the sural sections of the thickly populated postions of Japan can get enough to eat and to live in any sort of comfort, they do not care to emigrate even to other parts of their own country. Wor this reason I do not anticipate anything like the large emigration to Korea that has been predicted by the promoters of the naw Coloni-Is there anything to warrant the foolish idea sation Company, cortainly not for some years wards the United States and Hawaii, for there the bait of high wages to be immediately earned is held out to them. In addition there is the incentive of learning. Recognizing the problems which the immigration question presents to the United States Government, the Government of lapan has practically ceased issning passports to persons desiring to amigrate to those countries. I am quite sure the arrangement is satisfactory to both Governments. The simplest way to put a stop to that kind olimmigration, however, would be for the United States and Hawaii to coase offering high wages to Japanese and other immigrants." I asked Prince Ito whether he thought the clause in the existing Treaty by which each Government reserves to itself the right to regulate labours would cause any diplomatic friction when the time came for negotiation of a new Treaty. He said he thought not.

"It is proper that each and every Government should retain that right," said he, "We recognise the right of the United States to restrict its immigration as it may see fit, just as it is the right of any other Government. We understand the difficulties of your immigration question and the part it plays in the politics of your country. There ought, however, to be no discrimination against any people on account of race. I am convinced that the Government of the United States and the Government of Japan are satisfied with the present arrangement, and I see no reason to anticipate any

It was a fortunate day for Mr. Charles Louis Roggen, a tea and coffse planter of Radjamand ila, Java, when he read about Dr. Wiltiams' Pink Pills and resolved to try them. Probably he had often read of these Pilis before, as you have, and had scoffed at the idea that this one medicine could cure so many different maladies, as perhaps you do. But on that particular day he threw his acepticism to the winds, with the happy result that now he enjoys the blessings of abundant health inslead of leading the "deplorable existence" which recently he described in the following graphic words !-

"About, a year ago I was suffering severely from Rheumatism and Chronic Headaches." said he. "The sheumatic pains were all over the entire body, but especially in my back; my appetite was very bad and also my digestion, I never went to bed without the awful headaches: on rising in the morning I was in a state of feverish heat and aching all over.

So I went on suffering this deplorable existence, taking medicines but without finding relief, and fulfilling my duties as actingmanager of this. Estate with difficulty, untiin the homeland. From beginning to end of the volume, which is a record of his tour in the spring of this year, Mr. Angier seems to write in the spirit of a discoverer, rather than that of a citizen returned to his own. Events that were only in the making when Mr. Angier was on his former trip have now materialised, and ideas which were considered in the nature of dreams have now become actual facts. Probably by reason of his calling he is never carried away by enthusiasm, and, indeed, attimes he shows a curiously detached side, in dealing with figures and details, which forms a resting-stage after his descriptions of places and people and the inevitable comparisons which occur to his mind. "The Far East Revisited" is not the itinerary of mere globetrotter's wanderings, dictated by caprice, nor is it a connected series of views cullated with the purpose of influencing predetermined verdict. In many ways i differs from the ordinary book of travel. It is neither a patchwork of essays, such as Mr Alleyne Ireland wrote, nor a review and compilation of personal opinions and judgments after the fashion of Mr. Putnam Weale. If we could put it briefly we should hint at an after-dinner relation of experiences, a statement of facts enlightened with personal reminiscences, such as might be expected from the "Old China hand", who has not lost his skill as a raconteur. Mr. Angier has divided his work into four parts-Malaya, China, Korea and Japan, but, as might have been guessed, his eye is keenest on the affairs of the Straits and China, which are his special provinces in a measure. It should be stated for the benefit of the few to whom the L. & C. Ex press is unknown, that these chapters illustrating a sojourn in the gold and purple (rient appeared in the newspaper over which Mr. Angier presides, although, no roubt, they have been revised in various ways. But it is well that they should have beenissued in book form, for they contain the musings of one well qualified to offer advice and particularly well placed to form an independent and sensible opinion on the Fa East in transition. Mr. Angier passes India and Colombo unnoticed, and begins hi chatty and informative narration of the places he has observed at Singapore. It was a nev Singapore that he found himself landed at-a Singapore where something seemed to have temporarily at least arrested the quiet progress of what had always struck him as smooth-running, money-making machine He sees many lines of business being divert ed from British firms to Chinese and foreign hongs, just as he observes that the ports o Java are bidding, and too often successfully, for the trade which has hitherto been con sidered the heritage of Singapore. Of course he is deeply interested in the improvements which are being effected at the Tanjong Pagar Docks, and has much to say against the currency system which established the dollar at 2" 4d instead of, as he contends would have been the more satisfactory figure, as bid. is somewhat strange, however, to find that .Mr. Angier places no great reliance on what has been termed Singapore's hinterland, the sultanate of sohore. He makes little or no mention of that rich undeveloped land as a possible factor in the rejuvenation of our Southern neighbour even in the event of the Dutch colonies anatching more than their rightful share of trade from Singapore; nor Those who live in the Far East are does he emphasise the value of the Malay probably the last to appreciate at their pro- States railway to Johore as a feeder for the are gradually and almost imperceptibly places too much faith in the future of Penbringing the Orient into closer touch with ang as an outlet for the produce of the penthe Western world. But, generally speaking, all these vessels carry Straits cargo, and have thus an object in calling at the ports apart from the question of fuel supply. So long as such conditions prevail, there is little chance of Pulo Way attracting any appreciable portion of the Singapore or Penang traffic. A visit is also paid to Siam, where the usual extraordinary antithetical scenes, are witnessed. Coming to Hongkong, Mr. Angier waxes eloquent on the developments day. achieved. He has been in the hands of some aggrieved Civil Servant who deplored the fact that silver had risen with a consequent, reduction in the number of dollars paid out to bim, but nothing is said of the Civil Servant who gets paid at the rate of a 2s. dollar when the current rate is 15. 8d. This is an old question which we do not intend to revive. but it shows how sedulously the Civil Servant utilises every opportunity to press his own particular side of the matter on strangers and visitors. Praise, undiluted and unrestrained, is awarded Sir Matthew Nathan for the interest he displayed in the Kowloon-Canton railway, and Mr. Angier goes the length of asserting that : "The railway wil always remain as a memento of his too short administration, even though its completion take place under another regime." There is a Scotch saying which may be used in this connection and it is: "Maybe aye, and maybe imphm." Not a word, so far as we have noticed, appears regarding the work of Sir Frederick Lugard, who has been sent out to | kneel before the Emperor, his own son; remains face a situation that would shake the nerves | to be seen. of the most capable administrator. The omission and contrast are very significant. Mr. Angier is wholly opposed to the present site of the Naval Yard, and standing by his guns, says: "One is almost led to wonder whether it would not be worth while to make a bid even yet for the property, for the purpose of extending the town, on the basis of the erection of a naval yard elsewhere," If'Mr. Angier had glanced at the | 36, East Street. When the police entered the financial position of Hongkong he would have suggested, no doubt, at the same time, where the money was to come from. Reference is made to the chief industries and undertakings in the Colony, mostly in a commen datory spirit, though we are inclined to fancy that.Mr. Angier's education in this respect is mostly book-learnt. His Excellency Chow Fu was Viccory at Canton when Mr. Angier visited the capital of South China, and we are told: "His Excellency likewise spoke somewhat bitterly of the freedom enjoyed by the Chinese papers published in Hongkong; they appeared to be a considerable thorn in his side. He could not appreciate the British point of view and wanted to know why these papers were not suppressed. He said he had forbidden their entry into his Viceroyalty but he would evidently like to see them stopped entirely. It was little comfort that one could give him, beyond suggesting a press law for China, though of to sell by retail intoxicating lighters on the prenot too drastic a character. One desires to see the native press grow, but that it should not be an element entirely subversive of the present order of things." On the opium question, Mr. Augier preserves a strictly non-committal attitude, simply saying that in view of the Imperial Government's pronouncement the Colonial Government will have to adopt other measures to raise revenue. His references to West River traffic and prospects are those of the enlightened and trained observer, but of no special interest to people in Hongkong. It is the section dealing with China which will attract all students of Far Eastern affairs, for here Mr. Angier becomes the sage and the prophet, the philosopher actuated by the spirit of the pathologist. He is strong in his belief that the Cantonese are responsible both for reactionary and reform movements. In one place he holds that Cantonese cliques jule the situation, and sitirically remarks: "The members may be quite sincere in their cry of 'China for the Chinese' but in some instances this has meant. China for the Cantonese." He is a mine of information with respect to doings China, and speculates curiously on what would happen should the Empress-Dowager and the Emperor go the way of all flesh. His views are absorbingly interesting, where Chinese affairs are concerned, and for that section of the book alone should ensure its wide diffusion throughout the English-speakeration. And although there must be a much to say regarding the importance of ing communities of the Middle Kingdom, certain pleasure in visiting the Far East, roads, motors and railways to the Malay, and also among that small party of reformers States, and he had the best of guidance to in England whose zeal too often outruns at the innumerable changes that have taken | inform him regarding their future prospects. | their discretion. The Banishment Orders. CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEBLING.

THE REGISTRAR GENERAL AND CHINESE

On Saturday, the members of the Genera Committee of the Hongkong General Chamber of Commerce met to discuss, among other subjects, the uneasiness in Chinese commercial circles which had been fostered by the deportation of certain Chinese merchants and the issuance of banishment orders against others-The meeting was an unusually protracted one, and much information was communicated to the whole body of the Committee by individual members which was not then known by the whole board. Of necessity, the information impatted was obtained upon confidential reports which are of interest only to the representatives of the respective branches of trade off:cled. Should hereafter there be to further rioting or any other transgression of the law and merchants conduct their trade in a peaceable manner and do not incite the rowdy elements to disorder, the Hongkong Government have certainly no desire to banish even a single individual more.

Word soon went found the district that the house was afire. Owing to the day being a Sunday most of the male residents in the district were in their respective houses, and soon a large crowd assembled at the scene of the outbreak. With the aid of buckets and basins and a copious supply of water, the bedroom, where the fire originated, was soon inundated with a deluge of water by the amateur fire fighters whose determination to get the fire under was rewarded within a quarter of an hour of their arrival. Eut for their timely assistance the closely-built block of buildings within which the house is situated might have been involved in a destructive conflagration owing to the difficulty the fire brigade would experience in getting their engines up to the height of Mosque Junction. SMART ARREST, AT YAU-MA-TI.

Policeman Cockle was responsible for a very creditable capture at You-ma-ti at an early hour this morning. At about three o'clock the officer was walking on the footpath in Station Street keeping on the alert for any suspicious-looking persons. Arriving at the entrance to house No. 16 he heard a noise on the staircase, and, waiting for a minute or so, saw a coolie, who was carrying a bundle, emerge from the building. Like a flash of lightning the officer seized the coolie, and demanded from where he obtained the bundle. The coolin replied that the bundle contained his persoual effects, but P.C. Cockle, disbelieving the man's wird, accompanied him back into the house. They had no sooner reached the landing of the first floor, when a door was flung open and the cry of "Thief, thief" was raised. With the aid of a lamp the officers saw a hole in the partition, through which the coolie secured the clothing with the aid of a twelve-foot pole, attached to which was a sack, needle. The coolinwas taken to the Ya-ma-ti Police Station, where he was searched, and it was seen that he was wearing certain clothing which had been reported missing from another house-No. 20, Station Street. It was stated by prosecutor that at 6 p.m. on the day in question, he was on duty in the Southern Fairway, when he saw defendants' boats lying alongside the praya-wall-betweenthe Canton wharf and Wing Lok Street, the "yulos" of all the defendants being in the water. Witness had warned the defendants previously against the practice. On returning, he found the "yulos" still in the water, and on being approached by witness, the defendants started to pull them in.

The first defendant pleaded that her child was crying at the time and she was not prepared to pull her "yolos" in. Her two fokle were pulling in ropes. The others gave similar excuses.

THE COTTON YARN PRIZE SCHEMB.

A DOURTFUL INCENTIVE TO TRADE,

The term of the issue of prize tickets for the sale of cotton yarn in China expires at the end of next month. As will be remembered, this arrangement aroused much criticism in Shanghai, and the Japanese Department of Agriculture and Commerce and the Foreign Office viewed the scheme with disapproval, It appears that the result of the scheme was not very satisfactory, as it brought about no increase the export of yarn worthy of note. The Anchi now remarks, however, that it seems to be producing some effect. Purchasers of Japanese yarn in the interior of China who have obtained the first prize of yern valued at $10,000 have noised their good fortuse abroad and have aroused the interest of Chinese buyers general ly. As a result the opposition of the foreign merchants in Shanghai has been once more aroused, and recently the foreign Municipal Council of Shanghai requested Mr. Eitaki, Japanese Consul, to take measures to suppress the practice on the ground that lotteries were prohibited in Shanghal. The Japanese Consul declined the request, saying that in his opinion the action of the Japanese cotton spinners did not constitute a lottery, but was merely the granting of a present of yarn to buyers. Not a few spinning companies in Japan are opposed to the continuation of the practice when it coases at the end of next month, but it is said that whatever the views of the central organisation, the Kanegaluchi and Fukushima coat was found out to be the property of Lee, | Spinning Companies, which are greatly interestco poral F. AMERICA AND JAPAN.

AN "AGREEMENT" OR AN "UNDERSTANDING"?

JAPANESE PRESS OPINIONS

Tokio, November 30. It is stated on reliable authority, in Tokio that the " Agreement " between Japan and the United States takes the form of an exchange of memoranda and is general in character. There is no reference to the questions of immigration-and-naturalization, It is gratifying. that the declared policies of America and Japan are now crystall.zed, while the pleasant memory of the welcome accorded to the American battleships is still fresh. This exchange of memoranda has no connexion with the situation in China caused by the deaths of the Emperor Kuang Hau and the Empress-Dowager. It is not secret in character, but it was thought advisable to announce it to the world (at this juncture) in view of the attempts being made to alienate the friendship subsisting between America and Japan on the one hand and between China and Japan on the other. It is stated here that the "Agreement" can be traced to an informal understanding arrive at between Marquis Katsura and Mr. W. H Tafe three years ago and that it owes its existence to Marquis Aoki's initiative in 1907. Marquis Aoki in the course of an interview. attributed the success of the "Agreement" to the present Government, which deemed it no cessary in the circumstances of the reaction in American sympathy with Japan that set in after the Russo-Japanese. War and of the clamour in some American newspapers for the exclusion of Japanese.

An understanding between the Governments, continued Marquis Aoki, was never wanting, but they thought that it was imperative upon each of them to promote a better understand

OPINION IN JAPAN.

Tokio, December I. The memoranda of the American and Japanese Governments were exchanged in Washing: ton yesterday and will be published in Tokio

The majority of the Tokio newspapers heartily approve of the "Agreement," which they regard as marking an epoch in America's diplomacy, and illuminating the concluding chapter of Mr. Roosevelt's record as President. As a fresh guarantee of peace, it is urged, it will have important effects in view of the fact that the world's questions are centering in the Pacific. The spreading of ententes will enable China to carry out in peace her. reforms and the promise of a constitution.

A few papers, however, point out that America does not presess any territorial interests Chien, and that it is supusfluous and undignified for a first class Power to have stated that the "Agreement" has frustrated the ambition of the German Emperor. It was possibly His Majesty's ill-advised atterances that precipitatad the announcement of the "Agreement." COMMENT IN JAPAN.

Tokio, December and. A communique, issued with the Agreement, shows that Japan suggested, the agreement, availing herself of the salutary effects of the visit of the American battleships. America willingly consented.

Count Hayashi says that the agreement is not only less important than the agreements of 1907 but that it is superfinous. He is apparently influenced by personal antagonism towards Viscount Aoki.

The Kolumin Shimbun remarks that the stress of the agreement lies in the Pacific ques--N.C. D. News.

THE WEATHER.

Bank of England rate2

The following report is from Mr. F. G. Figg, Director of the Hongkong Observatory:--On the 7th at 11.55 a .- The harometer has risen considerably in Luzon, and fallen slightly on the S. coast of China.

The typhoon, which appears to be situated about midway between the W. coast of Luzon and the Paracels, has moved to the N.W. since yesterday. It is unlikely that this course will be maintained in the face of the anticyclonic. area which now covers Central and Northern China, Probably the disturbance will fill up gradually.

Gradients are steep along the China const generally, and N. and N.E. gales may be expected in the Formosa Channel and very bad weather over the N. part of the China Sea.

Red Cone point downwards and Drum hoisted (indicates a typhoon S.E. of the Colony beyond 300 miles), Hongkong Rainfall for the 24 hours ending at 10 a.m. to-day, 0.00 inches.

FORECAST. ...-Hongkong and Neighbourhood, N. and N.E. winds, strong to a gale; fair at first, some rain later. 2,-Formosa Channel, N.E. gales, 3.-South coast of China between Hongkong and Lamocks, same as No. 1. 4.- South coast of China between Hongkong and Hainan, N. gale.
